SOCIETY EDITOR.

That Phoenix is to have a real social season was demonstrated last week when the clubs announced their plans for the year. After a dead dull summer and an autumn that promised little in the way of gaiety, the elaborate calendar came as a welcome and delightful surprise. One thing is assured, the winter will be interesting if for no other reason than that the Arizona club has come to realize its social responsibilities. Its calendar announced in the Republican Thursday promises a series of events that rivals any functions in recent years. Dinners, dances and card evenings were arranged at a committee meeting held early in the week serving on the board of directors, are former Governor Joseph H. Kibbey, president of the club, Power Conway, Ernest Bennett, Robert Beardsley, David Goldberg, H. R. Tritle, Fritz Holmquist, George Olney and Frank Trott.

Some weeks ago the Country club listed its affairs for the winter and there is reason to believe the divisions will be carried out even more attractively than originally planned.

While the Bachelors club has cancelled its initial Hallowe'en ball it is encouraging to know that the organization is to exist despite reports to the contrary. At least two dances and a stag affair will be its contribute to the winter's diversion.

Among the informal card afternoons of the week was that given by Mrs. Clay P. Leonard Friday when she entertained two tables of auction. Mrs. Daniel Francis made the highest score. The guests were Mrs. Francis, Mrs. John Jamison of Oracle, Mrs. William S. Humbert, Mrs. Clark Churchill, Mrs. A. B. Nichols, Mrs. William Finney, and Mrs. Francis H. Redewill.

Mrs. W. C. Barnes, a much feted visitor from Washington, D. C., was the guest of honor at informal auction given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. E. A. Marshall at her home in Portland Place. The highest scores were made by Mrs. Ernest Lewis and Mrs. D. H. Burtis. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Marshall's hospitality were Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Walter Talbot, Mrs. Anell Martin, Mrs. Joseph H. Kibbey, Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Mrs. W. K. James, Mrs. Walter Bennett, Mrs. H. J. Jessop, Mrs. E. J. Bennett, Mrs. D. H. Burtis and Mrs. E. T. Collings.

Miss Betty Talcott was the incentive for a jolly picnic supper and dance at the Country Club, Tuesday evening. Among those present being Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher, Mr. and Mrs. Walfren McArthur, Miss Emma Bennett, Miss Katherine Kennan, Miss Selma Goldberg, Miss Kitty Craig, Miss Lily Westervelt, Dr. Charles Gowan, Robert Beardsley, Rupert Hill, Arthur Hallin, William A. Horrell, Edward Marshall, Roy Murray and Winfield Hartranft.

Judge and Mrs. Ernest Lewis gave an attractively appointed dinner Thursday evening, complimentary to Miss Emma Bennett. The table's centerpiece was of pink roses and covers were laid for Miss Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McArthur, Power Conway, Lindley Callhoun Norton, Edward Marshall and Roy Murray.

Mrs. Joseph H. Kibbey presided over a charmingly arranged luncheon of eight covers, Tuesday, in honor of Mrs. W. C. Barnes.

Miss Emma Bennett, a charming Los Angeles girl who is passing the winter here, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. J. Bennett, was the inspiration for a tennis luncheon and all fresco supper, given yesterday by Mrs. E. A. Marshall. The court and gardens at her home in Portland Place were brilliantly lighted and those gathered there were: Miss Bennett, Miss Eleanor Sloan, Miss Ruth Ainsworth, Edward Marshall, Arthur Holm, Irvin de R. Miller and T. P. Frazier.

activities, it should be a "true community center," according to the "American Club Woman." In an article dealing with the club house, "A community center," continues the writer, "where may be exemplified those things which people never achieve about community effort, unless they get a concrete demonstration. As a community center the club house will appeal to many women who should belong to clubs but are timid about asking for membership, thinking that the club is some exclusive institution.
